Too Many Elections.

"For several reasons I have anticipated defeat this year. In the first place, in view of the Germans' atfitude; secondly, because of the apathy that sprung from the feeling of dissatisfaction with the slate, and, thirdly, because the Republican machine has not cared a pleayune which way things went in the city, so long as the State was safe. One of Platt's confidential asents said to me a little time ago: 'Platt says the fig is up so far as the chy is concerned, and what we must look after is the Assembly and the Senate.' Therefore, I am not surprised at what has transpired to-day. My expectation now is that a sound, safe, and respectable city government rests upon the lesson we shall learn—that a partisan administration has no business in our municipality."—Dr. Parkhurst, on the elections in the city of New York.

The reverend Doctor is no doubt correct 'For several reasons I have anticipated

The reverend Doctor is no doubt correct except where he uses "transpired" for occurred, etc.

It is a fact that the Republicans gene rally use Reform-Democrats as catspaws. It is true that they do not care a - pica yune which way elections go, so that the Republicans get the power and the spoils. As to having a municipal government free from partisan politics, we fancy that Dr. Parkhurst is joking. Now, if the Doctor had said that the best way to secure the interest of the good people of this country in popular elections is to have fewer elections, he would have been nearer the mark-would have hit the nall squarely upon the head, in fact.

Voters are so often called upon to to the polls, and are so frequently assured that the pending election is the most important election that ever curred, etc., they get sick and tired of hearing about elections, ballots, canvotes, etc. Indeed, it come to pass even, that public speakers have gotten tired of heartalk. Few of them ing themselves ould be persuaded to take the stump in Virginia during the campaign that closed on last Tuesday. But if we could have only half as many elections as we now have, we might confidently count upon a greater popular interest than we

So far as Virginia is concerned, we are aware that there are some difficulties in the way, but if we went to work with a will we should not find these difficulties insuperable. When we have a convention to revise and amend our State Constitution, we may rest assured that the convention will take decided action on this subject. While we cannot join Dr. Parkhurst in indulging the hope that our city or county governments will ever be free from partisan politics, we are encouraged to believe that if elections were less frequent than they now are in Virginia, New York, and other States, many good and thoughful citizens who now rarely go to the polis would then take interest in political affairs. At present elections are of too great frequency to excite the interest and attention that should be given them.

Virginia. Those Democrats who wanted to hold Democratic State Convention and to formulate a platform containing planks on the silver question and other queseasy to divide the Democratic party in the late campaign must acknowledge now that the papers and the people who coun course which was adopted were in the right. Mr. Greeley, as we have often stated, once said the Virginian were the shrewdest politicians in the United States, General Schofield, as we have also often stated, once said that the Virginians could govern themselves so well that they needed no military governers to teach them to walk in the right road. Let us hope that next year will bring to us all better luck. We concede that silver is no longer likely to give us trouble, but we do not, by any means, concede that the Democratic party is dead and buried. In fact, the death of free silver will be a distinct gain to that party. This country cannot safely coin silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without help from other countries."

A Board of Pardons, Etc.

ess we are to have a constitutional convention soon, the Dispatch is in favor of submitting to the people an amend relieve the Executive of this State of as much as possible of the work of this character that now falls upon him. To-read applications for Executive ey, and to receive visitors who wish to plead for this, that, or the other convicted person, takes up at least half of the Governor's time. It is this that largely makes the gubernatorial office the a very disagreeable and exacting duty. Of course, we are aware that the gene-cure, but this view, does not obtain with The change that we suggest not be made in time to benefit the present Executive, but it would benefit his successors, and would benefit the State, inasmuch as it would leave the Executive more leisure than he now has to think over matters of State

By the way, we take it for granted that the matter of amending our State Constitution will be one of the foremost topics for discussion at the coming legislative session. It will rest with the Democratic members to determine whether the present is a favorable moment for submitting the question of "convention" or convention" to the people, For our part, we are quite willing to abide the decision of the legislative caucus; though we think, a convention can not be postponed many years longer Every Southern State, save Virginia, only, has had a convention to revise and amend its Constitution, since it emerged from the thrall of Reconstruction, and in this State, it seems to us that the convention sentiment is .steadily growing. But well we know that this is a matter about which we ought to "go slowly. We must await our opportunity. must watch for a favorable tide. Perhaps, after we have settled the pending question about our election-laws we shall see our way clearer.

New York City and the Saloons.

Tammany carried New York city Tuesday last by a large majority; but that organization was fighting for itself rather than for the Democratic party. Whoever will take the trouble to read what the Tammany platform says on the subject of the Sunday liquor-laws will see that a singular kind of victory was gained on the 5th instant by the Democrats of the Empire City. We quote from that platform as follows:

"I. Home rule, the first essential condition of good municipal government; beal jurisdiction and control over purely ocal affairs; no legislative meddling." That means that Tammany would have New York city to frame its own excise laws. We quote again:

laws. We quote again:

4. "A proper observance of a day of rest and an orderly Sunday; modification or receal of laws unsupported by public opinten; no unjust sumptuary laws; no blue laws; recognition of the fundamental American principle of freedom of conscience; home rule in excise as well as in other matters, within reasonable bounds; and other laws by the Legislature of the State which shall permit each municipality to express its sentiments by a popular vote of a majority of its citizens to determine such legislative restrictions as shall be to the interests of the zens to determine such legislative re-strictions as shall be to the interests of the entire State, and may best suit its spe-cial necessities and conditions." New York city, we may be sure, will have to fight this local buttle over again are glad to see that the Atlanta Constitution has come out for free Cuba. We trust that it will substitute "fre for "free silver," and then go on with its good work. We do not mean to say that the United States has any work to do in Cuba, or has not any. We mean to say just now only that we like to see the subject discussed in the Constitution's style as follows:

stitution's style as follows:

When Congress meets it will have one pressing subject before it, if no more. In all parts of the country the people have trisen unanimously in behalf of Cuba, and if Congress continues to be a representative body it will lose no time in recognizing the belligerent rights of the Cuban patriots who are struggling as seriously to secure self-government as ever the Americans did.

Some people may desire to remain on friendly terms with Spain, but the people have spoken and are still speaking in no uncertain terms in behalf of Cuba. In this country we cannot afford to be a mere idle spectator of the Cuban struggle. We are compelled to take sides, and there is but one side for a people with our history and traditions.

Our Atlanta contemporary accompanies the above by not one word of editorial the above by not one word of editorial in favor of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. It is a good sign. Maryland's Plight.

It is our opinion that the Democrats of Baltimore will get very sick of their Republican allies before they get rid of them. The people of a certain Virginia city not long ago made a similar league with the Republicans and most grievously they had to suffer for it.

The Republicans are now to have control of all the branches of the Maryland State Government, and will, of course, pass such election laws as will suit their own good pleasure. Alas! it seems us that the Democratic enemies of Mr. Gorman have paid a very dear price for compassing his defeat. How much better it would have been if they had made their fight at the Democratic primaries! And of this we feel quite surebefore they are relieved of Republican domination they will wish that they had never joined hands with the enemy.

Three States.

Washington Post charges the President with taking part against the regular Democratic ticket in New York. Maryland, and Kentucky. But the Post is certainly mistaken, so far as New York is concerned, for Mr. Hill read a tele gram to a New York meeting from the President, in which he declared unmistakably for the regular straight Demo cratic State ticket. His Secretary of the Treasury voted right in Kentucky, presumably with his approval. In Maryland the administration threw its influence against the regular Democratic ticket. It may be added that the bolting Democrats in any State probably intend to return to their party before the election of next year.

Mr. German is reported as taking the election "coolly, but refusing to be interviewed." If he would give expression to his feelings just now, it would make interesting reading. The Republican Legislature, which was elected in Maryland on Tuesday by the help of Baltimore Democrats, will choose a successor to Mr. Gibson, not to Mr. Gorman. Let us hope that, by the time the Legislature meets, two years hence, the Democratic party in Maryland will have been reunited, and will have the power to elect Mr. Gorman or some other staunch Democrat and good friend of the

At the hour of this writing it seem that the same sort of boom-erang that Hill and Whitney got in New York; that Campbell got in Ohlo; that Gorman got in Maryland, Carlisle has gotten in Ken tucky. Vice-President Stevenson escaped uninjured by being a citizen of a State which had no elections on Tuesday:

the Democratic party get gether and make the falls of its life.

About the Third Term The Spirit of the Valley takes us task for saying what we did recently on the subject of the third-term movement in the Republican party, which ended in the nomination of Mr. Garfield. Fut or Harrisonburg contemporary as good as confesses that we were right when it says that the idea that Grant's nomination for a third term would have placed him in the presidency for life is too absord to be entertained for a moment by any man who "understands character of our people." thus admits, we say, that we were right, Our people are now, as they were when General Grant was defeated for a term, opposed to putting anybody in the presidential chair for more than two terms. What does the Spirit mean when it speaks of "understanding the character of our people"? It cannot mean any thing else than that the seatiment of the American people against a third term is so strong that it is absurd to talk about electing anybody President for more than eight years. It was this spectre of a term for life that enabled the Republican leaders to defeat Grant of a third term. It was the term for life, seen in the distance, that frightened the Republican leaders out of their propriety, and caused them to put an end to General Grant's aspirations. It was not the third term that the people were afraid of, but the life-term. The third term in itself would have been no more than a spook. Let us say here that the same remark is true now. Nobody doubts Mr. Cleveland's patriotism, but everybody who "understands the character of our people," to borrow the Spirit's phrase, knows that they do not like that sort of dark horse which rises before them in the shape of an aspirant to the presidency for a third term.

The Spirit thinks that we were wrong in saying that in 1880, in the Republican National Convention, Mr. Blaine led the best elements in the Republican party, and Mr. Conkling led the worst. That depends upon what you mean by the phrase, "best elements." Surely, the Republicans who refused to be led astray by their great military leader, and dared to stand by Mr. Blaine in opposing a third-term nominee, comprised the best elements in the Republican party. It was a battle-royal that was fought by Blaine and Conkling, and we cannot but think that Blaine's following was made up of better men than Conkling's. However, we need not discuss this point.

The Defeat of Mr. Walton. It seems to us that the statement made in certain telegrams that we have seen from the Valley that Mr. Walton was defeated of re-election because of his connection with the Walton law is very un-

The real trouble in the Frederick and Shenandoah Senatorial District, which resulted in a Republican candidate running in between Walton and Purcell (both Democrats), grew out of a difference of opinion between the Democratic authorities of Frederick and Shenandoah as to what was the proper basis of representation in the nominating convention The Frederick Democrats elected their delegates on the basis of the last presidential vote; the Shenandoah Democrats lected theirs upon the basis of the last gubernatorial vote. Herein was involved the question as to which county should ontrol, and hereupon arose a controversy, which had not been settled when the of election arrived. The result was that the Democratic vote was split, and Me-Cune, the Republican candidate, easily walked in between Walton and Purcell. Our information is that this was the real cause of our trouble in that senatorial district. So it is not correct to say that Mr. Walton's connection with the law which bears his name was the

Not only is Maryland to have a Republican Governor and a Republican Legislature, but Baltimore is to have a Mayor of the same ilk fastened upon her. Ere long Baltimore will regret that she gave aid and comfort to her enemy and the enemy of the South for the purpose of punishing Senator Gorman, but, mean while, "anti-Gorman Democrats" and Radical-Republicans are hobnobbing in the Monumental City in the most amicable man-cause of his defeat.

Democrats are famous for fighting each other, but then they are famous, too, for closing ranks and fighting the common enemy, to the end that they win victory,

The Tammanyites now call themselves the Hurroos, having overcome the Goo-Goos, the Gazoos, and the Laroos, all in combination against them.

The same earthquake that shook up the cottage of the mountaineer in Virginia shook up St. Peter's Cathedral, Cleveland's endorsement of the State Democratic ticket in New York didn't count for much, in the face of the dissensions in our party there.

And the Tammany tiger' smiles and smiles and smiles again. O'er all the Democratic ills he rose victorious.

Too much Rooseveltism, like too much of what is sweet, seems to be cloying to the appetite.

In point of fact, those people who think this is an argentine republic are mistaken.

Mrs. Lou Chamberlain, of St. Louis, in a recent letter, writes: "I have used the Fast-Black Diamond Dyes with good success, dying a coat and vest for my husband that previously had been dyed at the dye-house, but had faded out. Two packages of the Black Diamond Dye gave a rich, full black, and the coat and vest look to-day as good as new, and have not faded the least bit, although they have been worn six mouths in sun and rain."

Mrs. A. E. Hartley, an eastern woman Mrs. A. E. Hartley, an eastern woman, in telling of her first experience with Diamond Dyes, writes: "Being a novice in dying. I may safely say that the plain directions on the Diamond-Dye packages will enable any intelligent person to use them with good results. I dyed a faded spring overcoat of my husband's with a package of Fast-Black Diamond Dye, and it looks like new. TABULES

Mr. Charles Austin Bates, the famous advertising writer, makes a specialty of medical advertisements. He has studied medicine and has a habit of analyzing the ingredients of every medicine about which he is asked to write, refusing to write advertisements for medicines which he cannot endorse. He says of Ripans Tabules: "I had the formula and went through it from the ground up. I found that every one of the ingredients was put in for some special purpose, and was good for the purpose intended. I have use much confidence in Ripans Tabules as I have in anything that I ever wrote about. I take them myself when I have eaten studied medicine and has a habit of anything that I ever wrote about. I take them myself when I have eaten a little too much or feel nausea or symptoms of headache coming on, and I find them quicker to act than any medicine I ever took. I know some people who think they can't possibly get along without them. My wife went to call one day on some friends she had known always. She found they swore by Ripans Tabules. They did not know that she knew anything about them or that I had written anything for them. By the way, if you swailow them properly, you don't taste anything in the mouth. Swailow them quick enough and you are all right. You can feel their action in the stomach almost immediately; a very pleasant sensation."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail, if the price (50c. a box) is sent to the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce street, New York. Sample vial, 10c.
